[IMAGE]How to Use This Guide Wherever you go in the supermarket, you will find a variety of bread choices. But sometimes you want a sandwich or roll that is a bit different from what is usually available. This guide will help you make these types of bread. 1. Breads in a can If you want a good roll or sandwich in a hurry, you should know how to make a loaf of bread in a can. These breads are readily available in many grocery stores.

Here are a few of the most common types of breads in cans. The first type of bread is called a baguette loaf. You can cut it up and make sandwiches. This type of bread is made from flour and water. Next is a regular loaf of bread. You can bake it, cut it up and make sandwiches. The flour used for this type of bread is a blend of wheat and corn flour. A bread with seeds can be made from seeds, water and flour. The seeds are usually sunflower, sesame, or poppy. Finally, there is a plain loaf of bread, which is made with wheat flour. You can bake this loaf.

2. Quick breads One of the simplest and most popular quick breads is made from bread flour and water. The bread dough is mixed and kneaded. Then it is covered and baked. The ingredients used in these breads can be bought in most grocery stores. You may use these ingredients in different recipes, but here are some breads that you can make from bread flour and water.

Buttermilk bread. This type of bread is made from three parts of water and one part of buttermilk. You can use an all-purpose flour, a bread flour, and sugar for this bread.

Whole wheat bread. This bread is made with whole wheat flour and water. There is no sugar added to this bread.

Sponge or soda bread. This bread is made from baking powder and sugar. You can add milk or buttermilk to this bread. The ingredients used in this bread can be bought in most
