"HyperMotion technology is a bold statement. We know that FIFA is authentic football and now we're able to deliver in-game decisions on top of the best-ever shooting system and ball physics," said FIFA Ultimate Team General Manager, David Rutter. "We saw a massive increase in fans re-buying Team of the Season content in FIFA Ultimate Team FIFA 19, and now with the introduction of Xbox One X, we expect even more fans to re-buy in Fifa 22 Free Download." Powered by the deep World Class engine used for the FIFA 19 Season of the Season update, players can find a deeper and more realistic feel to everything you do in FIFA 22. Powered by the EA SPORTS FIFA engine, players can be assured of the most authentic and realistic gameplay available on Xbox. FIFA 17 Director of Development and FIFA Engine Lead, José Luccioni explains in more detail what the new engine is. "FIFA Ultimate Team is an integral part of the FIFA community," added Luccioni. "It is a platform that players spend countless hours developing and playing, and we are committed to providing the world's best experience. We want our players to continue to have a competitive advantage and experience every match like a real-life football match. That is why we set ourselves apart from other sports with our in-depth match engine and shot/pass physics." FIFA 22 will release worldwide on 30th August 2018 for PlayStation4 and Xbox One, priced £54.99. The Ultimate Edition will release for Xbox One and PC with both the Legacy and Season of the Season packs and an exclusive FIFA Supporter Packs, priced £70.99. The Legacy edition will be available on Xbox One, PC and PS4. The Revolution Edition will be available on Xbox One and PC. I'm trying to build a circuit to switch a light on and off using a t-shirt button cell battery. I want to control the LED with a transistor. In this circuit, the row A/B make the transistor (and the led) work. The row C/D seem to turn the transistor off (or power it down) but don't make the LED switch on. What I've got a S3FS mounted directory. I'm using default connection string I've added some data via mongoJava. class B extends Customer { ... } val b = B(Name = "Name",...) val dto = new DefaultDto() dto.setB(b) dao.create(dto) When i tried to access Customer objects after removing the item from mongoDB using mongoJava the value has not changed. A: Slick is an ORM. You should use an ORM for updating your data. For example with Hibernate you could annotate a field @ManyToOne(optional = false) @JoinColumn(name = "id_external") private Customer customer; and then do a persist() which will check if the field exists, and if it doesn't update the field. By default it will update the database table. In your case you could also do update() on the mongo object. Q: How to apply style to Kendo UI components on multiple master pages? I'm using ASP.NET MVC 3. I have 2 master pages: _page.cshtml (default page) home.cshtml (menu) In home.cshtml I have Kendo UI widgets like this: @(Html.Kendo().Grid()

What's new:

- "Play the way you imagine." - Overhauled on-the-ball and off-the-ball mechanics for players of all types. The ball can now be simulated in the back arc and between players, and headers, lobs, off-the-ball tackles, and much more are also refined.
- "FIFA's 1st VR game." - Put on goggles and discover the immersive virtual environments of some of the most iconic stadiums around the world. Try your shots in the barra brava or the Cosmos packs, challenge your friends in four v.-mode challenges, or confront the all-new offline (offline) FIFA experience. Whatever the reason, FIFA 22 is a virtual-reality football experience unlike anything you've played before.
- "Instant impact" - Crush your opponents with tackles and blocks with the front and back of your body. You no longer have to "tackle" players by dragging your foot towards the ball to make a tackle. You can also block shots as well as head them down with the Thierry Henry and Clarence Seedorf lookalikes. The new pitch physics and animations provide more precise feeling of interactions with the ball, allowing the beautiful virtual worlds of the stadiums to step into the real world.
- New sliders for coaches – Have more control than ever on the field. Coaches can adjust all in-game tactical settings, including pitch sizes, field dimensions, and starting formations.
- New direction of play system – Possess a new power in FIFA 22. Now you can control the direction of play from any position on the field.
- New cyber-marquee this year – This year's 17-strong All Star Squad features new names like Neymar and Zlatan Ibrahimović.
- Make your shots count. The penalty area geometry has been adjusted to give you more space to make your kicks count. New goalkeepers can now kneel down to great effect.
- New player traits this year – Score at the zénith of your career and find success in France, Spain, Germany, England, and beyond.

- New celebrations – Make your fans
